POLICE COURT NEWS

A sitting of the police court took place at Coleman the early part of the week, presided over by J. W. Goodrich, police magistrate.

The case of the Glacier Coal Co. Ltd., versus Ashcroft was adjourned. This case is concerning the ownership of lamps and tools, the property of someone and the question is who we understand that the Company is to be represented by L. H. Palmer, barrister, of Blairmore, and that Mr. A. J. Kelly, student-at-law in the office of J. S. Ellis, now on a holiday, will represent the defense.

Court sat at Bellevue on Monday evening. A young man named Bee, was charged under the Motor Vehicles Act and paid a fine.

Mr. Putnam appeared for the following, which cases were adjourned till next week: Philip Opendenick, charged under the Liquor Act; Bill Sidack, Pete Manfell and Pete Parayko, of Bellevue and Hillcrest, charged with assault and attempt to rob on the information of Fred Sherne, Karl Seabach and John Ure. This affair took place at Purburg on Sunday, when a melee wound up with a hatchet fight.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" COMING

Stetson's spectacular production of that immortal play, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," will be here at the opera house on Wednesday, August 17th. There is a charm about this dramatization of Harriet Beecher Stowe's story that endures from decade to decade, and although many of the "anti-bellum" drama, they have heard their parents speak of the many delights and will take advantage of this opportunity of seeing Uncle Tom, Little Eva, Topsy, Mark the lawyer, Aunt Ophelia, Simon Legree and other famous characters in flesh. A company of forty picked players, including twenty colored singers, dancers, mimes and entertainers for the plantation and auction scenes will appear and a nack of Cuban bloodhounds, admirably trained, are employed in the thrilling scenes depicting Eliza's escape from the slave hunters. A beautiful transformation scene will conclude the performance, and a big street parade with colored band, ponies, bloodhounds, chariots, floats and other novelties will be a feature.

It is easier to find Esau's catalogue in many of our Christian homes than it is to find the Bible, for ours is a kind of a bargain religion. But even the catalogue has been neglected during the past year and pushed to the back of the shelf. Without special effort to bring about a change of heart, the people generally are beginning to realize that they are something to their neighbors. The strain which we will all have to face is likely to draw us closer together.

This advertisement appeared in a Calgary paper last week: "For Sale—A pure blooded Jersey cow, giving two gallons of milk, two tons of hay, a lot of chickens and several stoves. The poor cow has our sympathy."

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS SHOW GRATIFYING RESULTS

The Hon. George P. Smith, Minister of Education, expresses himself as being delighted with the results of the various High School examinations which have just been made public. It will be remembered that last year Hon. Mr. Smith issued a statement calling the attention of parents, teachers and pupils alike to the unsatisfactory conditions which prevailed and called for a united effort to get back to strict discipline and hard work. With regard to this year's results Mr. Smith makes the following comments:

"The examinations have just completed their labors and the results have been received and passed upon by the examinations Board. The situation shows beyond question that it paid to face facts as they were last year. The improvement is shown not only in the higher percentage of successful students but also in the appearance and quality of the answer papers. The inspectors report a new atmosphere in our high schools. They assure me that all over the province and even more particularly in small places, parents, teachers and students are approaching the work more earnestly and more seriously."

The following comparison between results last year and this year is very striking. In Grade X, last year 1464 students wrote and 802 or 55 per cent passed. This year 1572 wrote and 1140 or 73 per cent passed. In Grade XI last year 932 wrote and 478 or 51 per cent passed. This year 948 wrote and 516 or 54 per cent passed. In Grade XII last year 279 wrote and 172 or 61 per cent passed. This year 286 wrote and 189 or 72 per cent passed.

This shows that we are back again to a sound normal basis and the result is genuine and not attained by any special concessions or conditions of students. There should be no difficulty whatever this year filling the three normal schools when they open in August and thus still further improving the supply of teachers.

In the face of this situation I do not regret that last year the Department voluntarily assumed as unpleasant responsibility. School are, after all, primarily institutions for work rather than of entertainment and the laying of sound foundations of scholarship and of citizenship will not be successfully achieved without the earnest co-operation of all the agencies connected with our schools to attain such standards of effort and discipline and to shut out frivolous and unsettling tendencies."

British Embargo On Canadian Cattle Based On A False Claim

Ottawa.—"I think we have shown in a most conclusive manner that there never has been, and is not likely to be for many years, any disease among Canadian cattle," was how Dr. S. P. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, expressed himself to the Canadian Press on his return from England, whither he went at the instance of the Canadian Government to testify before the British commission which recently heard evidence in regard to the question of removing the embargo on Canadian cattle going into England.

"It is impossible to make any statement at the present time as to the probable outcome of the work of the Lord Finlay commission," was all that Dr. Tolmie could say when asked if he thought his mission to the old country would be successful.

Dr. Tolmie said he had made it perfectly clear that the British embargo against Canadian cattle had been instituted on an entirely false claim. The embargo was placed on the assumption that pleuro-pneumonia existed among Canadian cattle 37 years ago. After a most thorough investigation, this charge had been completely exploded. It rested with the British authorities as a matter of honor to take away this aspersion made against Canadian cattle.

The British authorities wanted to exclude Canadian cattle, all well and good; but that was entirely their own business. But if such a course was to be adopted, let it be made plain that it was not because of any kind of disease. Dr. Tolmie, who was making his first visit to the British Isles, said it made him proud indeed to be a British subject. During his stay he had been the official Canadian guest of the British Government, attending shows, dinners and functions, and getting the fullest possible opportunity of appreciating the splendor of the many activities of the mother country.

An important statement by Dr. Tolmie was that international trade was being discussed with the keenest interest by all sections of the community. In 1923 an exhibition was planned at which every portion of the Empire would be represented, and at which the main idea would be to get the component parts of the Empire to better understand each other's trade requirement. The conclusion of the minister was that the exhibition would have the effect of educating people to the idea that the British Empire has the ability of becoming self-supporting.

Dr. Tolmie visited the Royal Agricultural Show at Derby, and was deeply impressed at the size and strength of the draft horses. At the Olympia Horse Show he saw some specimens of horses which he regarded as perfect, and the hunters and saddle class were of the highest type.

Circassians Kill Turkish Governor

As a Result British Are Reinforcing Dardanelles Garrison.

Constantinople.—Circassian bandits appeared in Karabogha, on the Sea of Marmora, 35 miles east of Gallipoli, raided the town and killed the Turkish governor and commander of the gendarmerie. A British detachment assisted the Turks in pursuing the bandits. As a result of this incident the British are reinforcing the Dardanelles garrison.

26,054 Canadians in Chicago.
Washington.—Figures announced by the census bureau show the number of Canadians resident in Chicago at 26,054.

Divergence In Viewpoints Between France and Britain Over Question Of Silesia

London.—The French Government deems it impossible to decide on the holding of a meeting of the Allied Supreme Council until the question of sending reinforcements into Upper Silesia has been decided.

M. de St. Austre, the French ambassador here, called on Lord Curzon, the British foreign minister, and conveyed this information in the name of his Government. The French notification is regarded here to indicate a serious divergence in the viewpoints of the two countries, as stated Lord Curzon merely took

Alberta Farmer Ministry

Reinforcing Administration Is Busy Winding Up Affairs.

Edmonton.—The transfer of the Alberta Government to the incoming farmer administration will not be made until about the middle of August, according to the present outlook. Premier Stewart says there is still a considerable amount of departmental business to close-up and it will take another two weeks to put it fully in shape for turning over to the new government. Nothing will be done in any case until Premier-elect Greenfield signifies his readiness to assume office.

As soon as he has drawn up his cabinet, Mr. Greenfield will presumably lay it before the members for their consideration and when finally agreed upon the usual procedure to the Lieutenant-Governor will be followed out.

Premier Stewart, in an interview with the Canadian Press, said that in his opinion, the farmer members had made a wise selection in the person of Mr. Greenfield, who he thought would give good service as leader of the new government.

U. S. Reduces Army To 150,000 Men

Congress Rejected Funds To Pay Greater Force.

Washington.—Reduction of the United States Army to a peace-time strength of one hundred and fifty thousand men has been accomplished in accordance with the decision of Congress when it refused to appropriate funds for pay of a greater force after October 1. With the reduction, Secretary Weeks announces there would be a general redistribution of troops; practical abandonment of seven of the great war-time army cantonnements; placement of many organizations on the inactive list; and skeletonization of others into materially reduced strength.

Quebec Crop Is Fifty Per Cent. Less

Farmers Optimistic Although Drought Damaged Hay and Cereals.

Quebec.—"I still believe there is a decrease of at least 50 per cent. in the crop of the year," stated Hon. J. E. Caron, minister of agriculture, just returned from an automobile trip on the southern shore, where he personally inspected the crop. "Not only hay but cereals are greatly damaged by drought. The potatoes look well and vegetables should be an average crop. I found the farmers were optimistic, however, and they are courageously taking means to meet the situation," Mr. Caron added. "Due to our advice, farmers will keep their dairy cattle and will use all the feed available but it is hoped that the Federal Government will consent to grant a reduction in the freight rates to meet the requirements as the department of agriculture has received offers from the western provinces to send hay here if needed at a very reasonable price."

Britain Cancels Government Bonus.

London.—The chancellor of the exchequer announced that after September 30 no bonus will be paid to government employees in receipt of salaries over £2,000 a year. He also stated that there would be reduction of 5 per cent. on salaries above £500. He said that £500,000 will be saved by these economies.

The note of M. de St. Austre's communication and informed him he would refer the matter to the British cabinet.

When France agreed to a meeting of the Supreme Council in Paris on Aug. 4, it was more or less understood French acquiescence depended either on the question of reinforcements being previously settled or upon its being made the first subject of the agenda of the Council. The communication of M. de St. Austre would appear to show that the British Government declines to yield on this point.

Turks Are Badly Defeated

Athens.—Information from all sources indicates that the resistance of the Turkish nationalists in Asia Minor is completely broken down, the Greek official news agency declares in a statement. The Turkish losses in killed, wounded and prisoners to date are estimated at 50,000. The Greeks, the statement says, are constantly pressing the Kemalists along the road to Angora. Along the route of their retreat the Turks set fire to stores of material which they were unable to take with them because of the rapidity of their flight.

Auto Accident

Wipes Out Family

Autoists Killed By Car Being On Wrong Track.

Cleveland.—Five persons were killed, four of them almost instantly, when a car on the Abbey Avenue viaduct and an automobile crashed head on. One family was wiped out when John M. Franck, 40, a garage owner, his wife, 37, and their two children, were killed. Each of the dead sustained a fractured skull.

The cause of the accident according to the police, was the operation of a shuttle car east on a westbound track, the eastbound track being under repairs. The motorists were westbound and when they saw the street car on the westbound track they apparently thought it was traveling in the same direction as their automobile.

Terrible Experience Of Mountain Climbers

Mrs. Stone Is Rescued After Undergoing Incredible Hardships.

Calgary.—The search party which discovered Mrs. Stone has forwarded meagre details of the accident to the Alpine Club in Banff.

Mrs. Stone, who is not much the worse for her terrible experience, reports that she and Dr. Stone were climbing Mount Eon and Dr. Stone in attempting to make a short cut started up Rock Chimney with Mrs. Stone following him. They were not roped together. About half way up the rock on which he was standing gave way, and he plunged over her head to his death on the cliff below.

Mrs. Stone attempted to go down to her husband and became marooned on a narrow ledge of rock about half way down, from which she was unable to move. She remained there for five days without food. The only water she had was from a small stream which trickled down the mountain side at noon when the snows above melted. When discovered Sunday night by a searching party, she was in a weakened and exhausted condition but uninjured. A. O. Wheeler, president of the Alpine Club, went up to the camp on Marshall Creek, accompanied by a nurse from Banff.

Rainmaker Has Scored

Hatfield Wins Rain Bet With Medicine Hat District.

C. W. Holmes, Publisher of the Herald, Carlyle, Sask.

Medicine Hat.—Rainmaker Charles M. Hatfield has won his bet with the Medicine Hat United Agricultural Association and he will be paid $8,000 for rain which has fallen in the district during the past three months.

Hatfield was bet between May 1 and July 1. Up to Saturday last four and one quarter inches had been recorded and so Hatfield draws the maximum payment, which will be made him at the end of the month. The association will hold a meeting to determine whether or not the contract shall be renewed for another year. Despite the outcome of the unusual contract which was made with the rainmaker, all are not convinced that Hatfield is entitled to take responsibility for the precipitation. It is pointed out that the rainfall did not come at the time it was most needed, and further that whenever the rain did come, it was general throughout the west.

Turk Nationalists Asking For Peace

Resistance In Asia Minor Said To Be Broken.

London.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Turkish Nationalist Government, has sent a telegram to Constantinople asking that the Central Government intervene with the Allies in an effort to obtain a cessation of Greco-Turkish hostilities, according to a despatch from Constantinople to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

Wheat Field To Table In Few Hours

Ingersoll, Ont.—A record in which the harvester, the miller and the baker figured, was established a few days ago at Thamesford, Ont. On Thursday, at 3 o'clock, wheat was standing in the field. Later in the day it was threshed, drawn to the gristmill at Thamesford and ground into flour. On Friday morning biscuits of excellent quality were made and placed on the table for dinner.

Federal Authorities Discourage Immigration At The Present Time

Courts Intervene In Military Execution

Say Sinn Feiners Should Have Been Tried By Court Martial.

Dublin.—An important judgment was delivered in the chancery division when the master of the rolls ordered a writ of habeas corpus, returnable against General Sir Neville Macready, commander of the British troops in Ireland; Maj.-Gen. Sir Edward Strickland, divisional commander, and others, in the case of John Egan, sentenced to death by a military court at Limerick in June for having ammunition in his possession.

In a long judgment the master of rolls has decided that Egan should have been tried by court martial under the Restoration of Order Act. The claim of the military authorities that the existence of the state of insurrection justified them in overriding legislation seemed to him to call for a new bill of rights. There were considerations more important than the temporary duration of an insurrection. Among them were the eternal principles of justice, which could not be violated save with detriment to the interest and feeling of a civilized community.

Toronto Landlords Have New Graft

Charge $2.00 For Privilege of Viewing Prospective Homes.

Toronto.—That some landlords are asking prospective tenants the price of $2 for the privilege of looking at houses and apartments prior to renting them, is the complaint contained in a letters received by a local newspaper. A few days ago a man in the west end of the city asked a real estate agent whether he could take a look at a certain apartment. He was asked $2 admission fee.

"Will I get my money in case I do not take the place?" he asked. "No," was the answer.

"But in case I like the looks of the apartment, I intend $2 from the first month's rent," he said next.

"I charge you the $2 to look at the place," said the agent. "It has nothing to do with the rent."

The indignant correspondent asks, "What will be the next ingenuity of profiteering?"

Harvesters From B. C.

First Contingent Will Not Leave U.S. Till August 13.

Vancouver.—British Columbia will send every able-bodied man who wants to go to the prairie harvest fields this year. It is expected that a great number will take advantage of the reduced fares.

The provincial employment bureau, however, announces that none will be earlier than August 13, on which date the first contingent will go forward on the regular eastbound trains from Vancouver, and daily thereafter until requirements are filled.

Russians Fire On German Boats.

The grand total for wheat, rye, barley and oats, taken together, is 4,255,000,000 bushels compared with 4,568,000,000 last year, a decrease of 313,000,000.

Ottawa.—Intending emigrants to Canada from Great Britain are being urged not to sell their homes and other property until they are assured that they can comply with the Canadian immigration regulations.

This is the reply of the Department of Immigration to the statements of Canon Pugh, honorary director of emigration, Church Army, London, England. Canon Pugh declares a section of immigrants should be made on the other side of the Atlantic to avoid hardships.

The Canadian Federal authorities are not urging anyone to come to Canada at the present time, officials of the department stated. "Attending for settlers has been discontinued owing to the employment conditions here. There is plenty of Canadian literature available in the steamship and immigration offices in Great Britain but in nearly every case it goes only to people who have already made up their minds to emigrate and are looking for further information as to the country of their choice."

In the descriptive book, "The Canadian West," which the department is distributing in this way to intending settlers who visit the steamship offices and agencies in search of information, the first page is devoted to giving information as to the regulations governing admission of immigrants to Canada.

"Information on this page," says an explanatory paragraph, "is given prominence in order that persons may not sell out their homes, book their passage and sail for Canada until they are reasonably sure that they can comply with the Canadian immigration regulations and thus be able to enter Canada without delay at Canadian ocean ports."

Intending emigrants are urged to co-operate with the immigration authorities, study the regulations and make sure that they can comply before they make their final arrangements for sailing.

Harvesters From B. C.

First Contingent Will Not Leave U.S. Till August 13.

Vancouver.—British Columbia will send every able-bodied man who wants to go to the prairie harvest fields this year. It is expected that a great number will take advantage of the reduced fares.

The provincial employment bureau, however, announces that none will be earlier than August 13, on which date the first contingent will go forward on the regular eastbound trains from Vancouver, and daily thereafter until requirements are filled.

Russians Fire On German Boats.

Berlin.—The German mine sweepers which has been operating in the Kola Bight on the Northern Russian coast, is reported in a special despatch from Vardoe, Norway, to have been fired on by Russian land forces. The German mine sweepers fire but no damage was done on either side.

U.S. Parcel Post System Loss.

Washington.—The parcel post system now is being conducted at an annual loss to the government of approximately $30,000,000 a year. Congressman Steenerson, chairman of the house committee on post offices and post rates, states.

A Preliminary Estimate Is Now Supplied Of World's Crop Production

Ottawa.—A cablegram received from the International Institute of Agriculture gives the following preliminary estimates of crop production for 1921, corresponding figures for last year being given in parentheses:

The Talking Machine and The Decoration of The Home

In the appropriately furnished room, the usual talking machine is sadly out of harmony with the beautiful music which its interior produces and makes the sensitive listener with artistic taste wish he could hear the music without having his pleasure marred by the instrument producing it being so pitifully out of time with its surroundings.

The Pathophone Cabinets are perfection in the extreme, ornate, and adorn the room as well as cheer the listener with its finest of fine tones.

JUST GOING TO

He was just going to help a neighbor when he died.

He was just going to pay a note when it went to protest.

He went to insure his house but it burned before he got around to it. He was just going to reduce his debt when his creditors "shut down" on him.

He was just going to introduce a better system into his business when it went to smash.

He was just going to quit work a while and take a vacation when nervous prostration came.

He was just going to provide proper protection for his wife and family when his fortune was swept away.

He was just going to send out some good advertising when he found his competitor had got there first and secured the orders.

Dr. Little escorted a party of amateur Alpinists to the summit of Crow's Nest Mountain on Sunday last, from which point they sized up the provincial farmer-politicians. They claim that from the Crow it would appear that the dyes are greatly in the minority and that there is every possibility of a plebiscite being taken this year. Anyway the Crow is lone dry and has been ever since Columbus hit the shores of this continent with such force as to engender up this huge promontory. Doc and party registered their names with some twenty-odd names already there, and after implanting the good old Union Jack made return to town. The round trip occupied about thirteen hours. Jack Graham suffered from chilled feet near the base of the mountain, but had the pleasure of seeing the others climb.

A policeman entered Upton's tailor shop at Pincher Creek in September of last year to have repairs effected to a pair of trousers. He particularly requested new pocket linings. About a month later he called, only to find that the job had not been completed, but was told in his anger by Mr. Upton to "hold tight. It takes four years usually to properly line a politician's pockets."

E. J. Pozzi has secured the contract for the building of a large 50 x 115 foot addition to the C. N. Pass Motors garage. The work will begin at once.

Lieut. Shields, in charge of a Dominion government fire patrol plane, was killed almost instantly at High River on Monday last, when the machine tripped when but fifty feet from the ground and alighted on a wing.

The Wall Street Journal says that Henry Ford's profits for the month of May were $18,000,000. He made $189.16 on each car.

The Zion City court fined a woman the other day for exceeding just a little of her arms and neck. Our guess is that it wasn't the exposure which provoked the penalty, but the fact that she had that kind of arms and neck.

GOOD NEWS—FOR THE LAWYER

The lawyer entered the cell of his condemned client with a bright and cheerful smile on his face. "Well," he said, "I have good news for you at last!" The prisoner jumped up from his bench. "A reprieve?" he queried eagerly.

"No, no, unfortunately, not that," replied the lawyer, "but almost as good." A relation of yours has just died and left you $10,000, so that now you can go to your fate with the satisfaction of knowing that the noble and strenuous efforts of your lawyer on your behalf will not go entirely unrewarded." —Answers London.

THE PSYCHOLOGICAL MOMENT

Reginald was trembling, but he knew the music must be facing him. "Shall I ask your father for his consent tonight, Darling?" he inquired.

"You had better," spoke up the small brother unexpectedly from behind the sofa. "Pa's in his rocking feet."

White Spruce was defeated by the Coleman Baseball team on Monday night by a score of 6 to 0.

There are lots of bad people around Blairmore who should be sentenced to about three weeks at golf.

The new Thasell and Risk Clothing Store will open in the Blairmore block the latter part of next week.

J. C. LeMotte, now teller at the Union Bank at Okotoks, but formerly of the bank staff here, has been notified that he has successfully passed the examination in practical banking held by the Queen's University on June the 6th.

Rev. David Ross, formerly of the Corporation Board of the Baptist church at Burlington, England, and for a while pastor of First Baptist church, Lethbridge, has accepted a unanimous invitation to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Buddle Road, Benwell-on-Tyne, and took up his new mission on July 1st.

British Columbia is expecting to ship five thousand carloads, containing 3,750,000 boxes of apples in 1921. This quantity will be double the amount of shipments last year and constitutes the largest export the province has ever effected. A partial realization of the B. C. apple industry may be reached when one takes into consideration that twenty years ago the province was importing fruit.

Two or three of our ball team had an interesting experience while in Cranbrook recently. It seems that the fellows answered the descriptions of parties sought by the police for criminal offenses, and they were locked in the coop for a few hours until the authorities had a friendly game of baseball when the other fellows committed the crimes.

Enos Hunter, an Indian from the Morley Reserve, on his way to Banff with a small party to cut seep poles for Indian day, found a wallet beside the trail. The wallet contained $200.00 and shortly after picking it up, Enos met a party evidently searching for something. Inquiring if anything had been lost, and receiving a descriptive answer, the Indian handed over the money, receiving the sum of $1.00 as a reward for his honesty. A contrast between the actions of red and white men, of which the latter should be ashamed.

Five minutes later, once more on the street, he was walking home with Benny. It was Benny who broke the long silence that had immediately fallen between them.

"Say, Mr. Smith, I'll bet you'll never be rich!"

"Mr. Smith turned with a visible start.

"What do you mean, boy?"

Benny giggled cheerfully.

"Cause you paid Aunt Jane what she asked the very first time. Why, Aunt Jane never expects to get what she asks, pa says. She tells him groceries in the street, and she expects to get beat down. But you paid it right off the bat. Didn't you see how tickled Aunt Jane was after she'd got over being surprised?"

"Why—er—really, Benny?" murmured Mr. Smith.

"But Benny had yet more to say.

"Oh, yes, sir, you could have saved a lot every week, if you hadn't bit so quick. And that's why I say you won't ever get rich. Savin' is what does it, you know—gets folks rich."

Aunt Jane says so. She says you saved a good as two earned, an' better than four spent."

"Well, really, isn't that?" Mr. Smith laughed lightly. "That does look as if there wasn't much chance for me, doesn't it?"

"Yes, sir," Benny spoke soberly and with evident sympathy.

He spoke again, after a moment, but Mr. Smith did not seem to hear at once.

Mr. Smith was, indeed, not a little abstracted all the way to Benny's home, though his good-night was very cheerful at parting. Benny would have been surprised, indeed, had he known that Mr. Smith was thinking, not about his foolishly extravagant agreement for board, but about a pair of starry eyes with which Benny's mother and a blue dress, plainly made.

In the hotel that night, Mr. John Smith wrote the following letter to Edward D. Norton, Esq., Chicago:

My Dear Ned—Well, I'm here. I've been here exactly six hours, and I'm ready to go. I'm in possession of not a little Blaisdell data for my—er—book. I've seen Mr. and Mrs. James, their daughter, Benny, and the way Benny, by the way, is a gushing geyser of current Blaisdell data which, I foresee, I shall find interesting, but embarrassing, perhaps, at times. I've also seen Miss Flora, and Mrs. Jane Blaisdell and her daughter, Millicent.

There's a "Poor Maggie," whom I haven't seen. But she isn't a Blaisdell. She's a fair daughter of the man who married Rufus Blaisdell's widow, some thirty years or more ago.

As I said, I'm committed to the thing now, so I'll stuff it out. I suppose though I'm not sure, after all, that I wouldn't chuck the whole thing if it wasn't that I wanted to see how Millicent will enjoy her pink dresses. How many pink dresses will you send thousand dollars buy, anyway—

As ever yours,

Stan—er—John Smith.

CHAPTER IV.

In Search of Some Dates.

Very promptly the next morning Mr. John Smith and his two trunks appeared at the door of his new boarding place. Mrs. Jane Blaisdell welcomed him cordially. She wore a high-necked, long-sleeved gingham apron this time, which she neither removed nor apologized for—unless her cheerful "You see, morning, you'll find me in working trim, Mr. Smith," might be taken as an apology.

Millicent, her red undergarment self enveloped in a similar apron, was dusting his room as he entered it. She nodded absently with a casual "Good-morning, Mr. Smith," as he continued at her work. Even the placing of the two big trunks, which the shuffling men brought in, was from her only a listless glance or two. Then, without speaking again, she left the room, as her mother entered it.

"There!" Mrs. Blaisdell looked about her complacently. "With this couch-bed with its red cover and cushions, and all the dressing things moved to the little room in there, it looks like a real sitting-room in here, doesn't it?"

"It certainly does, Mrs. Blaisdell."

"And you had 'em take the trunks in there, too. That's the best of it, dod, crossing to the door of the small dressing-room beyond. I thought you would. Well, he'll be real happy with you, Mr. Smith, and I guess you will. I've covered everything with mats and tidies and spreads."

"Yes, I see." A keen listener would have noticed an odd something in Mr. Smith's voice; but Mrs. Blaisdell apparently noticed nothing.

"Yes, I always do—so save wearing and soiling, you know. Of course, if we had only to buy new the time, it would be different. But we haven't. And that's what I tell Mellicent when she complains of so many things to dust and brush. Now make yourself right at home, Mr. Smith. Dinner's at twelve o'clock, and supper is at six—except in the winter."

We have it earlier then, so's you can go to bed. But it's at six now. I do like the long days, don't you?"

"Well, I'll be off now, and let you unpack. As I said before, it's at six, so you sit perfectly at home, perfectly at home."

Alone, Mr. Smith drew a long breath and looked about him. It was a pleasant room, in spite of its cluttered condition. His papers and the chairs looked roomy and comfortable. The little dressing-room was a pleasant surprise. The windows of both rooms looked out upon the green of the common.

Mr. Smith knew that this might be his worst—in spite of the tidies! chuckled Mr. John Smith, as he singled out the keys of his trunks.

At the noon dinner, Mr. Smith met Mr. Frank Blaisdell. He was a portly man with rather thick gray hair and "mustache," and a friendly smile. He ate very fast, and a great deal, yet he still found time to talk.

He was plainly a man of decided opinions—opinions which he did not hesitate to express, and which he emphasized with resounding thumps, of his fists on the table. The first time he did this, Mr. Smith, taken utterly by surprise, was guilty of a visible start. After that he learned to accept them with the serenity evinced by the rest of the family.

When the dinner was over, Mr. Smith knew (if he could remember them) the current market prices of beans, corn, potatoes, sugar and flour, and he knew (again if he could remember) why some of these commodities were so low.

At the noon dinner, Mr. Smith met Mr. Frank Blaisdell. He was a portly man with rather thick gray hair and "mustache," and a friendly smile. He ate very fast, and a great deal, yet he still found time to talk.

He was plainly a man of decided opinions—opinions which he did not hesitate to express, and which he emphasized with resounding thumps, of his fists on the table. "Yes, but it's not important at all. Another time, as well."

"Some questions—But is all?"

"Oh, for the book of course. Oh, yes, I have the book, but that, she smiled, again brightly. "But can you wait?"

"Mr. Blaisdell will soon be here. I'm coming back so I can go home. I have to go home."

"And you are—"

(Not until the words were out did Mr. Smith realize quite how they came. He stumbled miserably, and she came to his rescue.)

"There was an odd something in her expressive face that Mr. Smith could not forget. She was looking at him strangely—anything to see when suddenly there was a sound behind her, and the woman at his side sprang to her feet."

"Oh, Hattie, you came down!" she exclaimed as Mrs. James Blaisdell opened the screen door and stepped out on to the veranda. "Here's Mrs. Blaisdell now, Mr. Smith."

People Living In Stone Age Manner

Life is Monotonous for Inhabitants of Rennell Island.

People who are still living in the manner of the Stone Age are found on Rennell Island, in the Solomon Group, Melanisia, according to Dr. Northcote Deck, a missionary.

Dr. Deck says there are only about 500 inhabitants, and because of their isolation, through lack of ship's anchors, even their dialect has never been studied.

The natives only had implements and weapons of stone and wood when Dr. Deck first visited the island. They showed great eagerness to barter home-made articles for anything made of iron.

"The men are great fighters and wrestlers. Their throwing spears have points made of human leg and arm bones, and tipped with a bone splitter designed to break off in the wound," says Dr. Deck.

"They seemed to feel keenly the monotony of their isolation and showed a settled melancholy, both in their faces and the cadence of their voices. Their only sort of music, which they dance, consists in the tuneless beating of a log."

The teeth of flying foxes, which swarm in the caves on the island, seem to be the only form of currency known there.

Arrived with a pencil and a very businesslike looking notebook, therefore, he started at two o'clock for the home of James Blaisdell.

Remembering Mr. Blaisdell's permission to come and ask all the questions he liked, he deemed it fitting to begin here.

He had no trouble in finding the house, but there was no one in sight at this time as he ascended the steps. The house, indeed, seemed strangely quiet. He was just about to ring the bell when around the corner of the veranda came a hurried step and a warning voice.

"Oh, please, don't ring the bell! What is it? Isn't it something that I can do for you?"

Mr. Smith turned sharply. He thought at first, from the trim slender figure and the waving hair above the gracefully poised head, that he was looking at a young woman. Then he saw the silver threads at the temples, and the fine lines about the eyes.

"I am looking for Mrs. Blaisdell," Mrs. James Blaisdell, he answered, lifting his hat.

"Oh, you're Mr. Smith. Aren't you Mr. Smith?" She smiled brightly, but there was before he could reply. "You see, Benny told me. He described you perfectly."

The man's eyebrows went up. "Oh, did he? The young rascal! I fancy I should be edited to hear it—that description."

The other laughed. Then, a bit roughly, she demanded: "Should you like to hear it—really?"

"I certainly should. I've already collected a few samples of Benny's descriptions of you."

"Then you shall have this one. Sit down, Mr. Smith." She motioned him to a chair, and dropped easily into one herself. "Benny said you were tall and not fat; that you had a wealth of light hair, round a little spot, and whiskers that were clipped as even as Mr. Penneck's hedge; and that your lips, without speaking, said, 'Run away, little boy, but that you eyes said, 'Come here.' Now I think Benny did pretty well."

"So I judge, since you recognized me without any difficulty," rejoined Mr. Smith, a bit dryly. "But—you? You see you have the advantage of me. Benny hasn't described you to me."

He paused significantly.

"Oh, I'm just here to help out. Mrs. Blaisdell is ill upstairs—one of her headaches. That is why I asked you not to ring. She gets so nervous when the bell rings. She thinks it's callers, and that she won't be ready to receive them; and she hurries up and brings to dress. So I asked you not to ring."

"But she isn't seriously ill?"

"Oh, no, just a headache. She has

A Wireless Pioneer

Professor Fleming Invented Key to Wireless Telegraphy.

The Royal Society of Arts has awarded the Albert Medal of the society for 1921 to Professor John Ambrose Fleming, M.A., D.Sc., who is seventy-three, in recognition of his many valuable contributions to electrical science.

Professor Fleming is the inventor of the thermionic valve, which was the key to all modern wireless telegraphy and which it made possible. The valve can be made to produce wireless waves, to deflect wireless waves, and to magnify them when detected.

Taxes at Doorn

Ex-Kaiser Must Pay For Living In Holland.

There is something pathetic in the All-Highest fallen or being forced into the role of tax dodger in the little town in Holland where he has taken refuge. The authorities at Doorn assessed their distinguished visitor along with the other residents, and we suppose they did not show any reluctance in fixing the amount.

The ex-Kaiser protested. Thereupon the callous burghers have replied in effect that if Wilhelm doesn't like the way the town is run he may go back where he came from.

That puts it up to him in a rather nasty way. To go back where he came from would just now be inadvisable. Besides, the home folks are paying hatefully high taxes too, and many of them have an ungrateful idea that if Wilhelm hadn't gone off on the loose they wouldn't now be bowed on from head to heel and compelled to spend most of their time working for tax collectors.

An Old Locomotive

After Years of Inactivity 50-Year-Old
Engine Stands Test.

The De Witt Clinton, the first locomotive operated in New York state, is resting after celebrating its nineteenth birthday by drawing a train of quaint cars of the type in vogue in 1831.

The test was given preparatory to a run to New York City. The engine chortled and puffed under the pressure of 75 pounds of steam as it exceeded the old-time speed limit of eight miles an hour.

Although it shook and groaned after years of inactivity, officials of the New York Central said it stood the test well. Several short runs were made.

To Help Famine Victims.

In an effort to save money to be sent for the relief of the famine victims in China, over 150 Chinese students at the University of Chicago and Northwestern University have agreed to limit the cost of their food to 65 cents a day for the next three months. In addition, the men will abstain from tobacco and the women from candy and motion picture shows.

The First Postcard

Was Introduced In Austria Over
Fifty Years Ago.

Postcards were introduced in the first place in Austria in 1869. A year later they were used in England. For half a century the postcard has been a popular institution, and its popularity has consistently increased.

In 1872, two years after their introduction into England, no fewer than 76 million postcards passed through the post. Ten years later, in 1882, the figure had increased to 135 millions. Almost double that quantity were posted in 1892. By 1902 the figure had increased 410 millions, while in 1906 the 800 million mark was reached.

When the letter rate was raised some time ago the postcard scored again, but now that the postcard rate is to be increased there will be little left of that particular economy.

My husband went to the drugstore to get the best remedy he had and he gave him Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and felt a lot better. I will always recommend the Vegetable Compound, and you can see these facts as a testimonial." — Mrs. J. O. CHURCH, Box 848, Smiths Falls, Ont.

Wheat Sixty-Six Pounds to the Bushel

Exhibitors at Edmonton Fair Had Some Good Grain

Among the exhibitors of grain at the Edmonton fair, was Mr. Price Sheppard whose entry of wheat weighed 66 pounds to the bushel. J. Strassburger, of Stony Plain, was also a prominent exhibitor in grain and vegetables. Of special interest was the exhibit of Alta Swedish red clover above which was an inscription stating that this clover which was first sown in 1915 had stood the test of six years without a single failure. This information should be of great value to the farmers as it is generally believed that red clover will not winter in Alberta, consequently, farmers do not sow this clover which is valuable not only for feed and seed, but as fertilizer. Wm. Chalmers, of Edmonton south, was the exhibitor, and he is enthusiastic in his praise of its qualities, and adaptability to the country.

Cretonne Trims Muslin Apron

By Marie Belmont.

The apron of unbleached muslin is adaptable for summer wear. Many of these creations are designed so that they take the place of the house dress.

The model illustrated is fashioned with short sleeves and the upper part is cut long enough to blouse over the saff of cretonne. It is really a slip-over affair as the back is closed except for a small opening at the top which allows an easy exit from its enveloping folds. A band of cretonne outlines the square cut neck as well as the sleeves and pocket. A cretonne flower decorates the front.

Improved Air Navigation

Automatic Means of Control For Commercial Airplanes.

Apparently the day is at hand when the navigation of an airplane will require no more skill and self-reliance than does the driving of an automobile. A flight has recently been made from London to Paris and back, during which, for two consecutive hours, the pilot was enabled to depend entirely upon an automatic mechanical control for everything but the actual direction by means of the steering wheel, says the August Popular Mechanics Magazine in an illustrated article.

More recently a French inventor has produced a mechanical pilot by means of which all control except the actual steering is done either automatically or by readily made adjustments. The device has attracted a great deal of attention in England, where elaborate tests are being made at both government and private aerodromes. This machine is so arranged that the pilot can retain personal control of the ailerons and elevator, as well as of the engine's plant and rudder, as long as he likes, and also has the means, whenever he desires to turn over to the automatic system the control of the ailerons and elevator simultaneously, or of the ailerons alone—but not the elevator, alone—and in addition he can cut out both automatic controls, and use indicators that are installed on the dashboard of the airplane cockpit as an index as regards horizontality. It is more than a means of relieving the pilot from fatigue, for, when flying through clouds or fog he need no longer fear that he is "banking" unintentionally, while for landing, the control can be set so that the machine will descend at a predetermined angle, thus removing one of the dangers of night flying.

How Science Advances

Radioscopic Examination of Mind As Well As Body.

Its name, "phrenoscope," exactly describes a new French X-ray instrument to those who have a knowledge of the dead languages, for the term is composed of two Greek words meaning a view or survey of the mind or diaphragm, and this is precisely the purpose of the instrument, says the August Popular Mechanics Magazine in an illustrated article. It makes possible a radioscopic view of any opaque object, and in the case of the human body, enables one to see distinctly the diaphragm—the membrane that separates the chest from the abdomen, dividing thus the body into two compartments. This membrane, although very slender, is muscular, and it vibrates constantly under the action of respiration. It is claimed that these movements of the diaphragm act in unison with the mind, or brain, and therefore a study of the diaphragm in this manner makes possible an analysis that is mental as well as physical. Indeed, the French inventor of the instrument asserts that he can read the character of any human being, when placed behind the screen of his instrument so that the diaphragm is fully exposed to view. That there is some basis for this assertion has been recently proved by a number of actual tests that were very successful.

Explorers Will Fare Well

Have Food Capable of Restoration to Original Taste.

If MacMillan and his six venture some companions succeed in reaching Baffin Land in the frozen north, they probably will celebrate with a banquet on shipboard in which such delicacies as "frozen" raspberries, spinach and green corn will figure largely.

It was learned that the MacMillan party had taken along a quantity of perishable foodstuffs prepared by a new process of desiccation, which its sponsors claim, leaves the dried products capable of restoration to their original bulk, color and taste by soaking in water.

In addition to fruits and vegetables, the MacMillan party's desiccated food supply included roast beef hash, reduced to withered bits, unrecognizable fish, also capable of being made "fresh" again, and a few bowls of grass for the party's dogs and catnip for the ship's cat.

Great Britain's Chief Creditor.

A return by the treasury shows that the external debt of Great Britain on March 31 last was £1,161,563,000, compared with a total of £1,278,714,000 on March 31, 1920, and £1,364,850,000 on March 31, 1919. The total net decrease in the two years amounts to £203,287,000. Britain's chief creditor is the United States, with £972,704,000, and Canada is next with £53,339,000.

Hides Do Not Figure

A provincial manufacturer assures us that the price of hides is not a factor in the cost of shoes. A prominent labor union declares that the labor cost in a pair of shoes represents only about a dollar. One must conclude that the price of an expensive pair of shoes must be caused by something else spontaneous generation—Hamilton Herald.

In Hawaii it has been found that weeds can be kept down in sugar plantations by covering the fields with paper, which is easily penetrated by the sharp sugar-cane shoots.

In some of the out-of-the-way rural districts in England, the people have a superstitious belief that ointment should never be applied with the first finger, as that finger is venomous.

A natural curiosity of Japan is the "insect bell."

I should have felt more nervous about the late comers if I had thought the world was ripe. But it is very green yet, if I am not mistaken; and besides there is a great deal of coal to use up, which I cannot bring myself to think was made for nothing. I certain things, which seem to me essential to a millennium, had come to pass I should have been frightened; but I wasn't.

For Frost Bites and Chills. Chills come from under exposure to stuff and cold and frost-bite from the icy winds of winter. In the treatment of either an excellent preparation is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, as it counteracts the inflammation and relieves the pain. The action of the oil is prompt and its application is extremely simple.

Work Doesn't Kill.

How much trustworthy evidence is there to show that the hurry and the overcrowding of modern civilization push men into premature graves? London, New York and Chicago have each a death rate very near the lowest ever known; octogenarians are more and more common, and active business men at sixty-five are so numerous that they attract no attention.—Youth's Companion.

Cost of Solomon's Temple.

According to the Right Rev. T. E. Bird, who lectured at Cambridge University, Solomon's temple, in terms of modern values, cost $4,000,000,000 to build.

The Endurance of Your Automobile, Truck, or Tractor

Depends not only upon the time of Lubrication, but the kind of Lubrication.

WHITMORE'S AUTO GEAR PROTECTIVE COMPOSITION

The largest builder of fine cars in the world; The largest builder of trucks in the world; The largest builder of axles in the world; The largest builder of worm gears in the world.

Many lubricants contain acid. They not only fail to counteract friction, but are themselves harmful and corrosive to gear and bearing surfaces.

Whitmore's Auto Gear Compositions Contain No Acids.

They are proof against heat and cannot break down or squeeze out. In the Panama Canal Emergency Dams, six million pounds rest on an unbroken film of WHITMORE'S.

Also, Whitmore's has an extensive test the U.S. Army contracted for its exclusive use. Manufactured by The Whitmore Manufacturing Co., Lubricating Engineers, Cleveland, Ohio.
